Welcome to "Lake Ash!"

Lake Ashtabula is formed by Baldhill Dam on the Sheyenne River. The Sheyenne River is the longest river in North Dakota entirely contained within the state borders. Once water passes through the dam, it continues on in the Sheyenne until it joins the Red River of the North just north of Fargo, North Dakota. Congress authorized the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to design and construct Baldhill Dam in 1944 to stabilize flows on the Sheyenne River. Baldhill Dam serves as a multi-purpose facility, providing water supply, flood abatement, wildlife habitat and recreational opportunities. The dam was first put into emergency service in 1950 and completed in 1951. The Corps renovated it in 1997 and made additional modifications to it in 2004 to provide additional water storage during flood events.

The Corps of Engineers owns the shoreline around Lake Ashtabula and is responsible for the management of these lands. The shoreline is divided into four zones, to include limited development, recreation, protected areas and restricted areas. Most of the larger segments of the shoreline are utilized as developed recreation areas, wildlife management areas or dam operation areas. The remaining lands are classified as limited development and are managed for a wide variety of activities, including dispersed recreation, agriculture and wildlife.

Copies of the "Rules and Regulations" brochure are available at the brochure boxes at each recreation area. Special site rules are posted on bulletin boards.

Alt. Route for seasonal hunting closure.
This segment of the North Country National Scenic Trail leads hikers through the Sheyenne National Grassland's unique landforms and plant communities. This trail has three trailheads along its route. It is a graveled, marked trail.

Please note, the North Country National Scenic Trail in the Sheyenne National Grassland is intended for non-motorized travel. Motorized vehicles including motorcycles, all-terrain vehicles (ATVs), utility terrain vehicles (UTVs), and snowmobiles are not allowed to travel on the Trail.

Dispersed camping is allowed anywhere on the Grassland, except at trailheads. Campers need to follow all travel management policies. Along certain roads, vehicles may drive up to 300 feet off road to camp.
